Happy Fall Friends!

I love fall – the colors, the cool air, and usually returning to a more “predictable” schedule and activities. This year we have the colors and the cool air but at Canine Partners “predictable” isn’t going to happen because there is so much exciting growth and change.

As you will read later in the newsletter, Phase 1 of the Partnership for Independence Campaign is close to completion. We can see the light at the end of the tunnel. I can watch out the window of my “mobile office” trailer and see the transformation taking place as the construction crews change our old farmhouse office to the new Program Services Center. And yet, it retains some of that farmhouse charm still. It has a beautiful new porch – come sit with us and chat about CPL’s mission! We look forward to having accessible restrooms/exits/entrances, private interview space, natural light, a larger harness shop, volunteer work stations, lots of funky door buttons for the dogs to learn to operate, and space to move and more efficiently provide our services. We’ll be moving in the week of November 13th – so don’t visit that week – but please come soon thereafter to see the changes.

And Phase 2, our new Training Center, is still to come. We are actively completing the fundraising for this phase so if you’d like to learn more, would like to donate, or know someone who might; please let us know!

With the cool air and color there is anticipation and excitement as we prepare for our fall Team Training class with twelve students, four who are returning for successor dogs. They come from eight different states, as far away as Oregon, North Carolina and Kentucky.

And puppies are coming – four litters will arrive over October and November. In this issue you will learn about how CPL is utilizing our Prison Puppy Program in a new and innovative way at SCI Somerset. We are so incredibly proud of the amazing work that the inmates, administration and staff have worked with CPL to help support our breeding program and our pups! Thank you SCI Somerset – you are all amazing!

And our documentary Adele and Everything After continues to amaze audiences across the country at film festivals, stacking up the awards and sharing CPL’s mission. We feel so blessed to have been a part of Marty’s (the star) journey and thanks Long Haul Productions for this gift!

So, come visit and share in the excitement and thank you for all that you do to help change the lives of our graduates – bringing independence, hope, and possibility into their lives!

With much appreciation,

Darlene B. Sullivan
Executive Director/Founder
THE MAKING OF

Adele and Everything After

A TRANSFORMATIONAL JOURNEY
DISCOVERING A DOCUMENTARY SUBJECT LIVING ACROSS THE HALL

My journey to making the documentary Adele and Everything After—the story of Marty, a woman with an untreatable heart condition and Adele, the Canine Partners for Life service dog who transforms her life—started at my own front door. Marty and Adele lived across the hall from me in Boston, and one day Marty asked if my company, Long Haul Films, could help her with a fundraising video for a new service dog.

I asked to hear her story, and that’s when I learned about Marty and Adele’s extraordinary relationship. Marty has an untreatable heart condition called vasovagal syncpe, that used to cause her to pass out every day. After seeing a television show about service dogs, she wondered if one could help her.

Marty contacted dozens of service dog organizations and got dozens of “no’s” to her question, until she contacted Canine Partners for Life. While CPL had never provided a cardiac alert service dog, CPL Founder and Executive Director Darlene Sullivan thought that dogs who could alert to seizures might be able to alert to heart conditions. As it turned out, CPL found a dog who could sense what was happening in Marty’s heart and prevent her from fainting. Marty was matched with Adele and her life was transformed.

When Marty told me she was facing up to Adele retiring, I knew I wanted to make a documentary about her life-changing partnership with Adele and the process of opening her heart to a successor dog.

FILMING ACROSS THE HALL AND AROUND THE COUNTRY—FOR TWO YEARS

Our first night of filming in November of 2014 started with me (the Director) and the Director of Photography, Tom Dowler (my husband and co-founder of Long Haul Films) following Marty and her husband Jeff as they walked through Boston. Along the walk, we got our first look at how Adele alerted; by nudging Marty’s leg with her nose. To the untrained eye, it looked like the dog was showing affection, but Marty told us that this was Adele’s way of letting her know she was at risk of fainting and needed to stop.

Over the coming months of filming, we got to know Adele’s alerts as well as we got to know Marty and her family. We followed them around Boston, filming at iconic locations like Fenway Park, and down to Cape Cod, where they spent weekends.

We flew with Marty to Pennsylvania to meet potential successor dogs on a snowy January day. We traveled to her hometown of Dallas, Texas, and interviewed friends and family about Marty’s childhood struggles with fainting. We drove from Boston to Cochranville with Marty and filmed her time at CPL team training.

A SMALL TEAM, WITH MANY WOMEN WORKING BEHIND THE CAMERA

To make Marty feel comfortable enough to share her life with us, we worked with a small crew, in many cases filming with only two or three people. One of the biggest compliments Marty paid us was to say that she often forgot we were there!

I directed the movie and filmed many scenes in collaboration with Tom, our Director of Photography, and the cinematographer.
Megan Lovallo. Adele and Everything After is the story of a woman’s journey, which stars women, and I’m exceptionally proud that so many women contributed behind the camera, too. We had additional support with cinematography and editing from Mia Malchow, Rachel Maksy and Allison Ajemian, as well as Producing by Madison Steigerwald in Los Angeles, where we filmed re-creation scenes from Marty’s earlier life.

That’s not to take away from the impact of Director of Photography and Editor of the film, Tom Dowler, who played a significant role in crafting how Marty and Adele’s story came together in the final edit.

A LOVE STORY

The editing process began in December of 2015. Over the course of the next year, we shaped hundreds of hours of footage into an 86-minute movie that focuses on the special relationship between Marty and Adele, a bond that put us in mind of great cinematic love stories.

When we had a rough cut, we decided that we needed footage to supplement the story of Marty’s childhood and early adult life, and we filmed re-creation scenes in Los Angeles, casting two actresses to play Marty, including the talented Claudine Quadrat, who delivered an incredible portrayal of some of the most difficult moments of Marty’s struggle with vasovagal syncope before Adele came along.

The music in the film was very important to all of us. Los Angeles based cellist Gabe Noel composed an original score for the film that beautifully underpins the emotions. We were grateful that musicians we love, The Ballroom Thieves and Hayley Reardon, contributed songs for the film. Music from these talented artists, who both have roots in New England, are featured in key scenes from the film, and every time we screen Adele and Everything After we get compliments on the incredible quality of the music.

SHARING ADELE AND EVERYTHING AFTER WITH THE WORLD

In the spring of 2017, after more than two years of production, the movie then known as Letting Go of Adele had its world premiere at the renowned Cleveland International Film Festival to a sold-out crowd. Since then, the film has been picked up for distribution by Gravitas Ventures, and got a new name, Adele and Everything After. The movie has been an Official Selection at more than a dozen festivals across North America and won Best Documentary at Long Beach Indie International Film Festival and Audience Awards at Scruffy City Film Festival and Canada’s NorthwestFest.

Adele and Everything After will be released on video on demand platforms by Gravitas Ventures on February 6th, 2018, with a DVD and Blu-ray release to follow.

There will be more news coming about the film’s release, as well as other special screenings and film festivals.

You can be the first to hear what’s next for the film by signing up for the newsletter at adelemovie.com/subscribe and “liking” us on Facebook.com/AdeleandEverythingAfter where you can see the trailer for the film as well as behind the scenes photos and videos.

The support of the amazing CPL community has meant so much to me, Marty and everyone involved in the film and our greatest wish is that this movie benefits an organization that does so much to help the lives of others.

The cost to raise, train, and provide lifetime support for a CPL service dog exceeds $30,000. The cost to a CPL program participant is a suggested donation of $1,000 to $3,000 based on income. However, no one is denied a canine partner because of their inability to donate.

Solla’s Partners is a very special group of donors who have notified us that they have included CPL in their estate plans. The society is named in memory of Solla, CPL’s first service dog (1989).

Examples of planned gifts include qualified retirement plans (IRA, 401k, and 403b), insurance policies, or a direct fixed donation or percentage of your estate as indicated in your will. For more information, visit www.k94life.org/give/sollas-partners.

If you have already included CPL in your estate, you deserve to be thanked and recognized. Even if you wish to be anonymous, it is important to leave a written record with CPL so your wishes are honored.

Sollas Partners DONOR SPOTLIGHT: STEPHANIE CORY GORRIS

Stephanie is a nonprofit professional who has generously given her time to CPL as a volunteer since January 2017. She lives in Centreville, DE with her husband and is very active with the Junior League of Wilmington and the Association of Fundraising Professionals. An avid dog lover, Stephanie was attracted to CPL because she, “liked that CPL blended the appeal of dogs, but was truly focused on helping people with disabilities.”

One of Stephanie’s favorite things about CPL is interacting with the dogs and that the volunteer opportunities are so hands-on. She explains, “All of the dogs I’ve had with me for the weekend or worked with for training have such individual personalities.” She hopes her donations help prepare CPL for a future where the organization is able to fulfill all requests for dogs and eliminate its waiting list.

Stephanie is one of our younger Solla’s Partners members and believes it is never too early to begin estate planning. The decision was easy since she does not have children to have to take care of in the future, but she also recognizes that even people with children can give a small amount to an organization like CPL, which sets a great example for the next generation while also making a difference to the nonprofit.

Stephanie recalls the process of naming CPL in her estate plans as being a very simple process. The advice she gives to other donors is, “Just do it. Take the step and complete a change of beneficiary form or update your will. The biggest shame would be waiting and not having named CPL.”

All of us at CPL are humbly honored by our Solla’s Partners members like Stephanie who trust our mission enough to make this incredible decision!
The Program Services Center is CPL’s newly renovated and expanded office building and will be the bustling hub of CPL’s activities. This completes the first phase of The Partnership for Independence Campaign, an $8.5 million campaign of which $5.7 million has been raised to date. The next phase will allow us to build a new 10,000sf training center.

To schedule a tour of the new facility, contact Daniel Smith at dsmith@k94life.org.

The service dog industry is growing. We are continually learning about new disabilities and in turn, new ways service dogs can assist people. To meet the demand of our growing program, we typically have 60 puppies in their first year of training at any given time. Most of the puppies come from the CPL breeding program. We have several litters of puppies born each year and all of our puppies are whelped in CPL staff homes.
Last fall, we were faced with a challenge: We were expecting four litters of puppies just a few weeks apart. We needed to find additional locations and volunteers to house our puppies for their first eight weeks of life. We had knowledge of other service dog organizations that were whelping litters of puppies in prison and since we have such a large Prison Puppy Raising Program, this seemed like a possible solution! Jennifer Swank, CPL’s Puppy Program Coordinator, spent many hours researching the program, speaking with other accredited service dog organizations who have whelped litters of puppies in prison and even made a trip to Indiana to visit I-CAN’S facility to witness the program first-hand.

Once we decided this would be the best way to fill our need, we needed to decide which prison would get the opportunity to raise these newborn puppies, but that decision was an easy one. SCI Somerset was at the top of our list! They have only been raising puppies since May of 2015 but their staff and inmates have shown incredible dedication to the program and have continually exceed our expectations! We knew we needed a facility with strong staff support and multiple inmates willing and capable of taking on the extra responsibility. Most of our prisons have 10–15 inmates trained and a few staff members but SCI Somerset currently has 27 inmates trained to handle the puppies, 25 trained volunteers (both prison staff members and community volunteers) and are in the process of training another 25 volunteers. Not only do they have a large number of staff members trained but they have staff from all across the prison involved. Nurses, guards, unit managers, counselors, administrators and more are trained to handle and assist with the training of CPL puppies. We had no doubt they could handle more!

When SCI Somerset was chosen to house our litter of newborn puppies, they were overjoyed and immediately went to work! They created a “nursery” where the new litters are housed complete with murals on the walls (painted by the inmates) so the puppies would feel more at home.

SCI Somerset received their first litter of 3-week old puppies in December 2016 and just received their second litter of puppies this fall. The inmates provide physical care for both the puppies and mom. They monitor the puppies’ weight, trim nails, provide puppy stimulation, manage the process of weaning the puppies from their mom (accustom the puppies to food other than their mother’s milk), and more! The inmates also start early socialization training with the puppies. They introduce them to different sounds, objects and textures. They take them outside and they even created an obstacle course made out of boxes, crates, paper, and cardboard so the puppies had a chance to explore and problem solve!

CPL made the decision to have a prison raise a litter of newborn puppies because we needed help and we wanted to provide the inmates with a fun and educational experience. We know how beneficial and rewarding having puppies in prison can be, but we never dreamed this particular program would make such a difference within the entire facility. It has been incredible to watch how creative and invested the inmate handlers are. Yet again, SCI Somerset has exceeded our expectations. We hope to have many more litters of puppies raised in their nursery and would eventually like to expand the program to other prisons.
NEW SERVICE DOG TEAMS

Service Dogs enhance the lives of their partners 24 hours a day, 365 days per year. CPL service dogs go through an intensive, two-year training program. In addition to being socialized and learning basic obedience, the dogs are taught multiple service skills to assist individuals with disabilities. During their second year of training, the dogs are paired with a human partner. At that time, each dog’s training is tailored to meet the needs of their future partner. CPL service dogs can provide balance and support to people who have difficulty walking, retrieve dropped items, turn light switches on/off, pay cashiers, alert people to seizures, blood pressure drops causing unconsciousness, and hypoglycemic episodes associated with diabetes, and the list of tasks doesn’t end there. CPL’s lifetime follow-up program ensures that each team continues to successfully work together for the lifetime of the partnership, making independence a reality.

CARRIE AND WINNIE

Namer: Charles F. Patton
Middle School Student Council
Vet Sponsor: Trooper Veterinary Hospital
Puppy Home: Cindi Chamberlain and Buck Bullen
Grooming Sponsor: Marilyn Traeger-Smith

Where do you call home? Missouri
How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I learned about CPL from watching a Diane Sawyer special featuring Shannon, a CPL graduate.
How does Winnie assist you? Winnie is a cardiac alert dog that provides some light balance work as needed and occasionally bracing for assistance getting up.
How has your life changed since being partnered with Winnie? Having a service dog has been both rewarding and challenging. Winnie’s alerts have cut my recovery time from a cardiac episode in half; I believe having the advanced notice has made all the difference. The challenge comes with the fact that there is much more work and training involved than I could have ever imagined.
What goals do you have for your future together? Winnie and I have a goal to improve on her service skills, this is a goal that will always be a changing work in progress. We look forward to taking trips to both Texas and Florida in the next year.

CAITLIN AND RADAR
Breeder and Donor: CPL and ADI Breeding Collaborative
Namers: West Pharmaceutical Services, Don Morel
Vet Sponsor: Radnor Veterinary Hospital
Puppy Home: Pat and Shannon Bonney

Where do you call home? Pennsylvania
How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? My boyfriend at the time (now husband) introduced me to CPL many years ago. After volunteering for a few years I discovered how much a service dog can help combat dysautonomia symptoms and decided to give it a shot!
How does Radar assist you? Radar’s main job is to keep track of everything going on in my body and alert to my various medical episodes, which makes his name very fitting! I’m always on his radar!! He also provides support when I’m walking, helps me up off the ground after an alert, and in/out of chairs.
How has your life changed since being partnered with Radar? I’m currently enrolled in a clinical trial that requires me to travel to Boston every three weeks. Without Radar’s help there is no way I would be able to physically handle the travel and treatments. He has allowed me to participate in this amazing opportunity that I otherwise would have had to miss out on. Radar’s goofy personality also keeps me smiling through everything – even on the worst of days!
What goals do you have for your future together? With Radar’s help I’m hoping to further my musical career and rejoin some of the orchestras I have had to drop out of due to my health. I would also like to get back into playing at weddings and other functions.

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I learned about CPL from the Abilities Expo in Dulles, Virginia. I saw Caitlin and Forest do a demonstration and I was amazed by everything Forest could do. I spoke to a representative at the CPL booth and applied soon after that! After seeing the demonstration, I realized how much a service dog could help me become more independent. I wanted to rely on my parents less and do more things on my own, and a service dog would be a great way to accomplish my goals.

How does Chadd assist you? Chadd picks up everything that I drop since I can’t bend over on my own. He finds my phone, even when it’s in the other room, which provides a sense of security for me because I know he could get it if I fall. He pretty much does my laundry for me— he puts it in the laundry basket, pulls the basket into the laundry room, and puts the laundry into my dryer. One time he even decided to jump into the dryer! He helps me press automatic door buttons and elevator buttons. He pulls sweatshirts off of me, carries items, and pays for me at stores.

How has your life changed since being partnered with Chadd? I have a newfound sense of confidence and independence because of Chadd. I no longer have to worry about dropping something important and having no way to pick it up. I also have constant entertainment because Chadd is quite a funny dog! I have had more interactions with the public, which I enjoy because I like teaching other people about how amazing service dogs are. I’m getting more fresh air because of our daily walks, which are a lot of fun. I feel more relaxed and happy—whenever I’m feeling down, Chadd is always there to cuddle! I love having my best friend with me all the time.

What goals do you have for your future together? Right now I’m a senior in high school and I’m looking forward to having another great year of school with Chadd by my side. After that, Chadd and I will go to college together! I want to be an English teacher and I can’t wait for Chadd to help out in the classroom. I also want to travel a lot and have amazing adventures with Chadd. Chadd and I will continue to strengthen our partnership so that I can be as independent as possible.

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I learned about CPL almost 10 years ago when I saw CPL’s demo dog, Sage, do a demonstration of service dog skills at a Charcot Marie Tooth Association (CMT) meeting. CMT – the neurological condition that I have – is progressive, which makes me more and more reliant on the help of family and friends to do simple daily tasks. So immediately when I saw CPL’s demo dog, I knew a service dog could change my life – and I was right! Since that time, I became an active volunteer and board member at CPL. With a service dog by my side, I am much more independent and I could never imagine where I would be without one. When it was time to retire my first and second service dogs, there was simply no question that I’d apply for another successor at CPL.

How does Prize assist you? Prize assists me daily with retrieval of all kinds of items including, clothes, shoes, my phone, and miscellaneous items that I drop. She also assists me with getting dressed and undressed, go pays, bag carry, opening doors, and she helps me lift my leg(s) onto my bed.

How has your life changed since being partnered with Prize? The physical benefits of having a service dog are more obvious – anyone who comes into contact with Prize and I can see that our partnership has had the most tremendous impact on my life. She performs daily tasks that I’m otherwise unable to do on my own, and she helps me reserve my energy by assisting with tasks to make them easier. But apart from just the physical aspects, the emotional effect of having a dog has also been life-changing. I am more independent, confident, and outgoing. With her, I am not afraid of falling or needing help, and I’m able to go places and do things by myself. I have come such a long way since getting my first service when I was only 16 years old, including graduating high school and college with honors. Now, I’m 25, and with Prize I was able to graduate from law school, take the bar exam, and I now look forward to working full time as a lawyer in Delaware.

What goals do you have for your future together? Prize and I are always working towards many goals – whether they be professional, personal, or related to our partnership. Professionally, I look forward to Prize and I starting my new job as a judicial law clerk in the Superior Court of Delaware, and then eventually practicing law in a Delaware law firm. Prize has already proven she is an asset both in and out of the courtroom! Personally, I look forward to Prize and I taking fun trips together – hopefully a vacation in Disney or a tropical island is in our future! And finally, Prize and I will continue to practice our skills and strive to be the best team we can be!

Vet Sponsor: Albion Animal Center

Where do you call home? Ohio.

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I learned about CPL by happenstance. During my search for a service dog program, I came across a totally unrelated blog post that briefly mentioned a CPL cardiac alert dog. I researched CPL and once I learned more about cardiac alert dogs, I was in! I had finally found a way to regain the independence that I had lost for 6 years and I knew then, that a CPL service dog was my way to get there.

How does Banks assist you? Banks is a cardiac alert and mobility dog. He helps me identify when things are going wrong with my body before my safety is in jeopardy.

How has your life changed since being partnered with Banks? I think the biggest way my life has changed since having Banks with me is I don’t fear life as much. I don’t fear for my safety when I’m doing things around the house or out in public. I’m already dependent on his alerts and I can’t imagine life without him. He’s priceless.

What goals do you have for your future together? My goal is to get out of the house more, go more places, do more things, and possibly even drive again. Really, I just want to do as much as possible!

Where do you call home? Delaware

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? Dawson is my third service dog, second from CPL. Originally my physician referred me to CPL as having the best dogs to meet my needs.

How does Dawson assist you? Dawson helps me walk, alerts me to migraines so I can be safe as they affect my vision, and provides cardiac alert which results in my passing out. He also helps get me up if I fall and lets me know when to stand still or sit or lay down for a minute if needed. He reminds me to PLAY every day, or I would never have any fun!

How has your life changed since being partnered with Dawson? After the loss of my second dog, I had some decline in my health and felt extremely disabled. I was terrified to go out alone and mainly worked and went home. Dawson has enabled me to get walking (very fast), stay active, be amazed by his intelligence that far surpasses humans, and work full time to support me and my husband, who had a stroke 9 years ago and cannot work. He has brought fun and laughter back to my life and challenges me to do things I haven’t done in a long time. He completes whatever gaps I have to make me feel like we can do anything together! And some feeling is returning to my hands, so I hope to be playing piano for him for “zen time.”

What goals do you have for your future together? Definitely a plane trip, a walk every day, going hiking again, investigating new interests and meeting new people, going on local trips...the possibilities have no limits. I want to continue to further CPL’s mission by donating my time and Dawson’s demo skills to help others.

PATRICIA AND SARGENT

Breeder: CPL
Stud Dog Donor: Diane Jones
Name: Erica Sorrentino-Sutton and Rob Sutton
Vet Sponsor: Metzger Animal Hospital
Puppy Home: State Correctional Institution-Smithfield

Where do you call home? I’m lucky because CPL is only about 20 miles from home.

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I learned about CPL through an internet search and attended an open house a few years ago. That’s when I got a volunteer application and began the process that culminated in this remarkable partnership with a service dog. Dogs have always been an integral part of my life. As physical challenges mounted it seemed natural to take that relationship to a new level. It’s been WOW!!!

How does Sargent assist you? First and foremost Sargent helps me walk by assisting with balance and offering forward momentum. He retrieves dropped items and brings me things. He opens doors with enthusiasm.

How has your life changed since being partnered with Sargent? This is hard because it’s changing and evolving almost every day. In a few days we leave for a BIG adventure, traveling to Scotland. Doing it with my new best friend makes it even better. Sargent helps with the big stuff and the small stuff. It’s hard to think of life without him now.

What goals do you have for your future together? As our partnership grows I look forward to expanding my volunteer work with CPL by spreading the word about this dynamic organization. I want to see CPL grow to fulfill its potential based on their passion and commitment to breed, raise and train, and place wonderful dogs like Sargent.

Where do you call home? I live in California (Silicon Valley).

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I learned about service dogs from a friend who had one, researched organizations, and decided that Canine Partners for Life was my best option. I am mobility impaired. I trained with my first service dog, Inglis, in 2010 from CPL. The experience and involvement with CPL was a real highlight of my life. After saying goodbye to Inglis, there was no question in my mind that returning for a successor dog would help me realize greater independence.

How does Nathan assist you? Nathan assists me in many ways. He provides balance and support. He retrieves many different objects which eliminates much wear and tear on my back, knees, and fingers. He carries items which increases the possibilities of what I am able to do. Other important skills Nathan does is pushing handicapped and elevator buttons, tugging open refrigerator doors and opening other doors. The possibilities of expanding on basic service skills are endless. As loss of functionality has increased, the ways that Nathan has been able to help me is priceless.

How has your life changed since being partnered with Nathan? My life has changed a lot since being partnered with Nathan. I had stopped participating in a number of activities. Instead of limiting myself, I am looking at all of the ways that I am able to expand my independence.

What goals do you have for your future together? I am so grateful to Canine Partners for Life, and for every moment I have with Nathan. I am very involved in refining Nathan’s present skills and finding new ones to teach him. I am looking for opportunities to speak and share information about service dogs, and specifically about CPL. I am joining more groups to be more active in the community and to engage with other people. Interests of mine include many forms of art, advocating for individuals with disabilities, compassion, accessibility issues, camping and exploring the wonders of the outdoors, speaking and teaching opportunities. Nathan is a huge part of how I envision taking part in these areas and further expanding my interests and activities.

Where do you call home? California

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a service dog? I initially heard about CPL through a social worker that I had worked with at Easter Seals in Wilmington, DE. As soon as I visited CPL and saw all the skills that these dogs could do and heard the life-changing stories from one recipient after another, I had no doubt that I wanted to be blessed with one of these amazing dogs. Positive changes happened immediately after I was partnered with my first service dog and as Murray is my third service dog from CPL, I guess you can say, “I was hooked.”

How does Murray assist you? Murray assists in many wonderful ways! He provides the support and stability I need for walking, he carries objects, tugs drawers open and closes doors, picks up all the dropped objects around my house and “re-energizes” me emotionally.

How has your life changed since being partnered with Murray? My first two service dogs had significantly increased my independence for work, daily living tasks and play and Murray is providing the help for me to continue on this same path. I would be lost without him!

What goals do you have for your future together? I have two main goals. The first is to enjoy life together and the second is to be the best partners to each other that we can be!
NEW HOME COMPANION TEAMS

Home companion dogs are placed with individuals who CPL feels would benefit from a well-trained companion, but would have difficulty raising and training a dog on their own. Although not usually providing physical assistance, the job of a home companion dog is extremely special. These dogs bring comfort, encouragement, and joy to their human partners.

JEFF AND BAILEE*
Breeder: CPL
Stud Dog Donor: Diane Jones
Namer: Doug and Irene Waitzman
Vet Sponsor: Longwood Veterinary Center
Puppy Homes: The Hatch Family, State Correctional Institution-Muncy
Home Companion Training Home: John and Grace Gosnay

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a home companion dog? I researched service dogs on the internet and discovered CPL had a program to adopt home companion dogs. I really don’t need the level of assistance a service dog would provide but knew that a companion dog would be perfect. I always had dogs but now needed a dog with some training.

How does Dusty assist you? Dusty provides me and my husband with so much joy, love, and laughter. She is a sweet, laid-back girl and fits perfectly in my life. My previous companion dog died of Lyme disease and left a big hole in our hearts which Dusty has filled.

How has your life changed since getting Dusty? Dusty is a great little character that makes me laugh all day. She gets me outside and keeps me busy. She is truly a wonderful companion.

What goals do you have for your future together? My goal for Dusty is to travel more. We took her to Florida last winter and she was a great traveler and loved by everyone she met. I think she had as much fun as we did. My sincerest thanks to CPL for your great program and sending Dusty our way.

MARY AND DUSTY*
Breeder and Donor: ADI Breeding Collaborative
Namer: Ms. Mary A. Kingry
Vet Sponsor: Waynesburg Animal Hospital
Puppy Home: State Correctional Institution-Greene
Home Companion Training Home: Leah and Dominic Corrigan

How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a home companion dog? My aunt’s sister-in-law works as a volunteer for CPL. She knew we were looking into getting a dog to support Nathan’s sensory needs so she shared a little bit about the program and connected me with her sister-in-law. After learning more about CPL we knew this would be the best fit for our family. Nathan has a sensor processing disorder and he is on the autism spectrum. He becomes dysregulated with too much sensory input or not enough sensory input throughout the day. On an ongoing basis he deals with high anxiety due to his conditions.

How does Rafter assist Nathan? Weight is very calming and can help Nathan become regulated, so, if Rafter sits on his lap it can be calming. When Nathan’s anxiety peaks he wants someone with him all the time so now he takes Rafter in another room to play with toys, or into the bathroom, or to bed at night. Rafter makes him feel safe. He loves to have Rafter under the table while he is eating and he pets him with his foot which is very calming.

How has Nathan’s life changed since getting Rafter? Nathan feels safer and he has been calmer at home now that we have Rafter. With Rafter, Nathan doesn’t have to fully rely on his parents all the time when his anxiety is high. He can be more independent.

What goals do Nathan and Rafter have for their future together? Nathan and Rafter continue to bond each day. They go for walks and play fetch in the back yard. He has been a wonderful addition to our whole family. Nathan’s brothers, Kyle and TJ, spend a lot of time with Rafter as well. Rafter has become a huge part of our family!

Home Companion Training Home: Mary Fertig

Where do you call home? Northern Virginia
How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a home companion dog? Online search. I like dogs. They are cute and funny. I wanted a friend.
How does Dublin assist you? She helps me study. She makes me happy and sometimes helps me calm down. She plays with me until we are both tired. She sleeps with me. She is very supportive to me.
How has your life changed since getting Dublin? I am not as lonely. I can always, always, always talk to her.
What goals do you have for your future together? Playing.

BRYN AND SAKI

Breeder: CPL
Stud Dog Donor: Diane Jones
Namer: Michael and Nancy Evans
Puppy Homes: Bernadette Oliver, Jessup Correctional Institution
Home Companion Training Home: Susan Cowan

Where do you call home? Virginia
How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a home companion dog? My mom found CPL online and thought it would help reduce my anxiety.
How does Saki assist you? I feel calmer in social situations.
How has your life changed since getting Saki? I never was responsible for anyone else before and Saki makes me feel proud. I can’t talk and neither can Saki so that makes us similar but Saki depends on me.
What goals do you have for your future together? I’d like to be able to take Saki walking on my own someday. Right now my parents walk behind but there is no one in front or at my side. I never did that before Saki. I hope Saki can help me be a bit more independent.

JORDAN AND FIDGET

Breeder: CPL
Stud Dog Donor: Diane Jones
Namer: Bette and Jeff Pope
Vet Sponsor: Crawford County Humane Society
Puppy Home: State Correctional Institution-Albion
Home Companion Training Home: Elise Betz and Betty Kane, Maryland Correctional Institute-Jessup

Where do you call home? Maryland
How did you learn about CPL and why did you decide to apply for a home companion dog? Jordan found out about CPL when he was participating at a wheelchair basketball tournament with the Bennett Blazers in Baltimore. A CPL volunteer was there taking pictures and someone had a CPL puppy in training with them. Why apply? I missed having dogs. I was responsible enough to take care of a dog and just wanted a dog that was all mine to love, play, and sleep with me but I needed a dog that would be gentle and easy to walk because my balance is not always good.
How does Fidget assist you? Fidget makes me smile and laugh. He helps me by just being a friend and is always happy to see me. He is calm, patient, and gentle so I can be independent and take him for walks, brush him, and feed him. He follows me everywhere I go and sleeps with me every night.
How has your life changed since getting Fidget? I was able to increase my independence and be responsible. I take Fidget out every morning to go to the bathroom and feed him before I go to school. Then when I get home from school I take him out again and then feed him again a little later. And I take him out to go to the bathroom before we go to bed. It feels good to take care of my dog and know/show I can do it by myself.
What goals do you have for your future together? Just continue to have fun and be a family. Try to teach him some more commands. My mom taught him “stretch” and he does it...lol.
New and old friends of Canine Partners for Life gathered last May for a marvelous evening filled with dancing, celebration, and fundraising at this year’s Unleashed & Uncorked event. More than 200 guests played the Wine Toss game until night’s end, danced to lively classics by The Geezers, and perused the excellent silent auction items on display. Our four-legged friends could be found playing dress up at the “Look at Me” Photo Station, while adorable puppies provided plenty of cuddles throughout the night.

In between the exciting games and yummy food, guests listened to Courtney speak about her story before and after receiving her CPL service dog, Zido. Later on, Kiersten from the Montgomery County Courthouse spoke about Turks, the Courthouse Companion Dog, and brought along two guests who experienced Turks’ compassion firsthand. Unleashed & Uncorked was a magnificent event that raised more than $95,000 to support CPL’s mission. We are beyond grateful for those who attended and made this a successful evening.
